Redditch Workers - Professional

Redditch like many town changed from an agricultural based economy to an industrial one with the advent of the industrial revolution. It was also self supportive in many ways and so people found employment in a variety of trades.

In these series of documents we have look at the census records and trade directory information collected as part of the Lost Redditch project and analysed it to show those trades and who pursued them.

In this document we look at those in the Professional businesses.
